Comments On Statement Of Reasons For Allowance

Applicant respectfully wishes to make of record that Applicant agreed to the amendments to gain protection for at least part of the new and non-obvious material disclosed in the application. Applicant believes the as-filed claims, in addition to other material, is patentable subject matter (see, for example, Applicant's response dated 24 May 2006 which is explicitly incorporated herein by reference). As amended, the claims are for one embodiment of the OTA (over-the-air) software compaction system and method for wireless devices found in the disclosure. Applicant reserves the right to continue prosecution for material not covered in the presently allowed claim set, explicitly including material lying between the as-filed claims and the claims as allowed. One exemplar embodiment includes, amongst other elements, a compaction system/method using code sections that do not necessarily include a plurality of symbol libraries.

In addition to the elements discussed in the office actions and responses, each claim includes additional elements that, taken together and with equal weight, form the claimed subject matter. This includes each independent claim, and each dependent claim which adds element found therein and includes each element found in its dependency tree.
